

DDS Logistics is strengthening its Join2ship team with the arrivals of Karine Sehili and Olivier Bulteau

In an effort to speed up the development of Join2Ship - the collaborative transport solution that improves collaboration with its customers, carriers and shippers - DDS Logistics, the French software publisher, is hiring two new talents: Business Engineer Karine Sehili, and Project Manager Olivier Bulteau.

The DDS Logistics sales force continues to grow with the arrival of Karine Sehili. She will be tasked with developing new business for the Join2ship solution. A graduate from the ESCE Business School with a Master's degree in International Trade, majoring in Supply Chain Management, 23-year old Karine has already distinguished herself as a Supply Chain Coordinator at Crystal Group, Qualitair & Sea International. "Contributing to the development of the Join2ship solution, a revolutionary project for the entire supply chain, from suppliers to carriers and end customers, is a great opportunity for me to work in a thriving start-up, while benefiting from the 30 years of experience behind DDS Logistics", explains Karine Sehili.

Concomitantly, Olivier Bulteau is joining the Join2ship team as a Project Manager. He will take part in the development of new function modules for the Join2ship solution. In particular, he will be tasked with specifying and designing the future functionality of the collaborative platform. "DDS Logistics has a broad experience of this business and stands out thanks to its ability to innovate, in particular with the Logistics Incubator and the Join2ship solution. I was won over by the innovative character, the ease of use and the functionality of this solution", continues Olivier Bulteau.

"We are delighted to welcome Karine and Olivier to the Join2ship team. Their experience and expertise will add genuine value to the development of our solution. Karine's arrival will enable us to speed up the development of new business, while Olivier's extensive experience as a project director will be a real bonus for DDS Logistics, especially for the development and progress of our Join2ship solution", declared Pascal Acquaviva, the Join2ship Program Director.

About DDS LOGISTICS

Founded in 1984, DDS Logistics specializes in software for international transport and sourcing. As the leader of the TMS (Transport Management System) market in France, DDS Logistics proposes a modular offer covering upstream and downstream transport, the import and export supply chain and visibility and control of supplier logistics. Our collaborative solutions also improve the visibility of flows and control of costs all along the transport chains.

DDS Logistics' solutions are intended for various customer profiles (international buyers, shippers, manufacturers, importers, forwarders, carriers, 3/4PL, etc.) and guarantee a quick ROI: lower transport costs, stock reduction through enhanced supply chain control, control of deadlines and quality of service.
